Roger Clemens, the "Rocket", is a right-handed Major League Baseball pitcher. Clemens has played for four teams: the Boston Red Sox, the Toronto Blue Jays, the New York Yankees, and the Houston Astros. He spent the majority of his baseball career on the Astros. He played 23 seasons, with 13 of them on the Astros. Clemens is a 2 time World Series champion, and has won the most Cy Young Awards in Major League Baseball.
Clemens may be one of the best pitchers of all time, but he is also one that always seems to be in some kind of trouble. In the book Juiced: Wild Times, Rampant 'Roids, Smash Hits & How Baseball Got Big, Jose Canseco said that Clemens took steroids, an illegal drug that makes you stronger and helps you play better.

The authors of Juiced and some reporters have also said that Clemens used steroids during his Major League Baseball career, but Clemens says that he did not. In 2008, Clemens appeared on the television show 60 Minutes and said that his success in baseball was because of his hard work, and not because he used drugs.

- )51. Which of the following did Roger Clemens say?

Michelin Guides are a series of annual guidebooks published by Michelin, a French tire company. The oldest and most famous of these guides is the Michelin Red Guide, a hotel and restaurant guide, which awards the Michelin stars to restaurants. The Red Guide gives one to three stars to a small number of restaurants of superb quality and service. So a restaurant with one star is already a very good (and also probably a very expensive) restaurant.

It is the highest goal of most chefs to be rated three stars in the Red Guide. Chefs that get three stars are launched into superstar status like the movie stars in Hollywood. The third star also brings the restaurant and chef many new chances. Not only do the restaurant's profits increase, but the chef can also get television contracts, airline contracts, and might even be able to start a frozen food line.

The Red Guide can make a chef famous, and his restaurant successful. However, the new pressure can be so great that oftentimes a chef will refuse the third star or give it back. With all the extra pressure and expansion into new markets, it is often too much to handle, and the restaurant could fail, or lose its third star. In a word, chefs love that third star, but also hate it at the same time.

- )56. Which of the following could be good title for the passage?
  - (A) Stars in the sky.
  - (B) A Dream or a Nightmare: The Third Michelin Star.
  - (C) Michelin Red guide or Green Guide: Which is better?
  - (D) The Michelin Restaurant: The Best Meal in Town.
- )57. Which of the following sentences can come at the end of the final paragraph and still make sense?
  - (A) The third star is their path to fame and fortune, but can also lead to misery and failure.
  - (B) Three-star restaurants often have many chefs performing many different tasks.
  - (C) Chefs often dream of eating food at a restaurant that has been awarded three stars by the Michelin guidebook.
  - (D) The Michelin red Guide is one of the most well known guide books in the world.
- )58. What is Michelin?
  - (A) A person. (B) A restaurant. (C) A book store. (D) A tire company.
- )59. According to the passage, why would a chef refuse a three-star ranking from the Michelin Red Guide?
  - (A) Because the chef might be opposed to what Michelin stands for.
  - (B) Because the chef hates the color red.
  - (C) Because the pressure might be too great after getting the third star.
  - (D) Because the chef is afraid people will make of his/her restaurant.
- )60. Which of the following is NOT mentioned in the passage as something that a chef gets when he is awarded a three-star ranking in the Red Guide?
  - (A) A frozen food line.
  - (B) Television contracts.
  - (C) A brand new kitchen.
  - (D) Increased profits at the chef's restaurant.
